President's Message

The increasing need for answers to problems in the realm of the spirit has given added responsibility today to the small Christian college. On the campuses of these colleges for centuries scholars have directed men toward God and thus to the realization of their quest. Today the attack against poverty must also be directed against the poverty facing, not only the body, but the spirit of man. This poverty too can be brought to an end. It is our belief at Campbellsville that we are one of the colleges joined together in the fight against poverty, but a college that must fight this battle on two fronts--against poverty of the physical man and against poverty in the world of the spirit.

Most Popular
Professor

Dr. Bruce Melvin

DR. BRUCE MELVIN, Campbells-ville's widely traveled sociology instructor, has been chosen by the students as the college's most popular professor. Born on an Iowa farm, Dr. Melvin has had a fascinating career centered around rural youth problems.

Mrs. Melvin worked as his assistant for five years before they were married in 1940. They have written four books on rural sociology. Dr. Melvin has taught at Ohio Wesleyan, Cornell, and the University of Maryland. While with the latter school, he helped set up the overseas program in Europe for service men and their families. England, France, Germany, Austria, Trieste, Italy, and Switzerland were some of the countries in which he traveled and taught.

Before joining the staff at the University of Maryland, he worked in North Africa in foreign relief and rehabilitation. Later he served as a civilian expert with the Army forces of occupation in Japan and Korea. Dr. Melvin, the U. S. Army's occupying general, and Korea's governor were the three men charged with guiding the people of Korea.

Having joined President Roosevelt's "New Deal" in 1933, Dr. Melvin did social and economic research, specializing in rural youth, housing, and resettlement problems. After leaving Cornell, he worked in housing and development as an aid under President Hoover and edited one volume of the twelve-volume REPORT OF HOME BUILDING AND HOME OWNERSHIP.

Dr. Melvin came to Campbellsville College in 1964 after two years of retirement. During this retirement period the Melvins spent their time writing and lecturing.

To become the most popular professor, one must exemplify ability, knowledge, character, enthusiasm, and preparation. These are just the qualities which Dr. Melvin possesses.

IN MEMORIAM

Upon returning from the Christmas holidays our hearts were saddened to learn that Dr. Bruce Melvin had died of a heart attack on Dec. 23. To replace a man of his stature--academically, socially, and morally--is nearly an impossible task. He will live on in our hearts, but he will be sorely missed . . .

The Dunamis Science Club (not shown) launched their "Secret Pals" science education program, which is the first of its kind in Kentucky.

The English Club is sponsoring a project to assist the promotional department of the College.

CIRCLE K ENCOURAGES BOYS IN VIET NAM

While students on many campuses were busy burning their draft cards and seeking to demoralize our troops in Viet Nam, the Circle K Club of our college sponsored a successful drive to send Christmas cards to our soldiers in Viet Nam. (L. to R.): Jim Outhouse, Hollis De Hart, and David Griffin.

George Bernard Shaw's play, PYGMALION, takes its name from a Greek legendary figure by the same name. He was a sculptor and had made an ivory statue with which he fell in love.

od Entertainment

P Y G M A L I O N

Twice yearly the Harlequins, a dramatic organization on our campus, presents a play. Under the direction of Dr. Jess Lasley and assisted by Edd Jett, the group gave George Bernard Shaw's PYGMALION as their first semester contribution to college and community entertainment. It was one of their best productions.

Shaw was famous as a critic of the manners and morals of respectable society. In this play he proposed to show the relationship between a person's attempt to practice his own individuality and the pressures upon him from convention and circumstance. Portraying Shaw's criticism of the vain social climber and showing the victory of individuality over social and economic pressures seemed delightfully easy for the Harlequins.

The colorful stage setting helped the audience to enter readily into the spirit of this famous five-act comedy.

Dr. Jess Lasley
Director

BELOW: Jim Outhouse administers the make-up. Ruby Scott also assisted in this important detail.

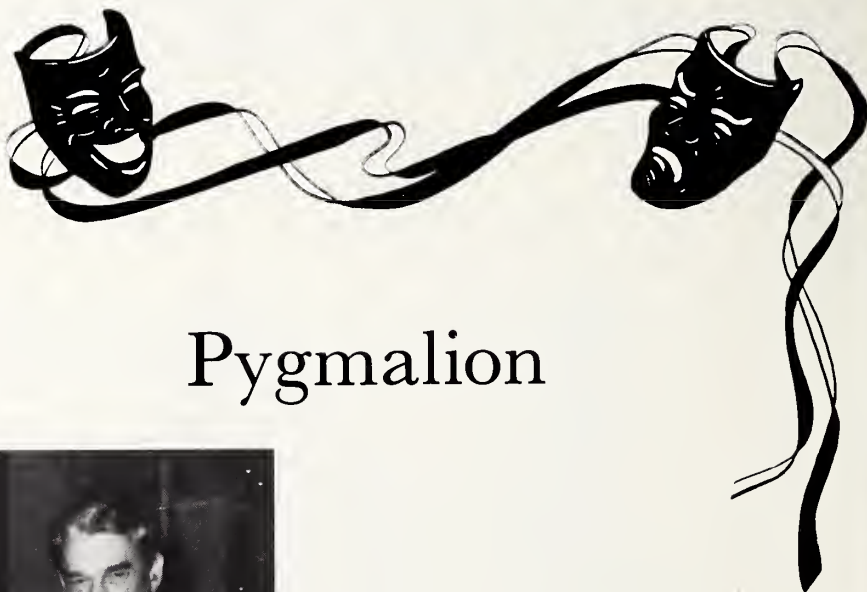

Willie Wilson, who charmed the audience as she played Eliza Doolittle, the flower girl who overcame her ill circumstances and Cockney accent enough to become a duchess.

Pygmalion

Dr. Horner congratulates Willie Wilson and Tony Paciocco for a job well done. Tony played Col. Pickering who along with Higgins, succeeded in improving Eliza's speech and manners.

Campbellsville Industries

Dreams do come true!

"The future of Campbellsville College is just as bright as our dreams--our vision--today!" President John M. Carter declared at the dedication ceremony.

THE NEW INDUSTRIAL BUILDING (pictured below), costing $70,000, was dedicated on December 10. It was conceived several years ago as a dream of our President to enable outstanding students who come from underprivileged or economically depressed areas and who are financially unable to pay their way to attend college. From 1955 to 1965, 412 students have worked in the industries building aluminum church spires, church bulletin boards, display racks, etc.

Estimated sales since 1965 exceed $1,000,000, profit from which not only aids the student-employees but also helps with salary raises for the teachers. Truly this is an unusual and unique type of business.

Campbellsville College is a "grand success story," and its industrial center is the "epitome of free enterprise in action," Mr. W. H. Neal, President of Western Gas Company of Owensboro, told the audience at the dedication ceremony.

Because of the deep interest and generous contribution of Dr. J. A. Goldfarb, Chairman of the Board of the Union Underwear Company, our new industrial center has been named in his honor. At the dedication ceremony at the College, Mayor Robert L. Miller presented Dr. Goldfarb a certificate of recognition proclaiming him an honorary citizen of Campbellsville and Taylor County.

THE NEW RESIDENCE HALL FOR WOMEN was also dedicated on December 10. This $240,000 girls' dorm was financed by the C.I.T. Corporation. It was completed just in time for occupancy during the fall semester.

Mr. Reed A. Shank, C. I. T. representative, presents the keys to Mrs. Fred Yoder, Dean of Women. Dr. Otis C. Amis, who presided at the dedication services, looks on. A great banquet in the College cafeteria climaxed the dedication ceremonies of the day.

O, COLLEGE DAYS!

O, College Days! How filled with TOIL you've been!
You made us work while others laughed and played;
You gave us tasks to do while others slept.
You lured us by the rich things that you pledged
If we would give to you our Time and Zeal.
You charmed us with the treasures of your store
And made us covet them. You bade us taste
Enchanted food which then addicted all
Our appetite. We found that nothing else
Could satisfy. Howe'er, the Toil we gave
And Time we spent for them were not in vain.

O, College Days! How filled with JOY you've been!
We came to you with youthful step, unlearned;
The morning dew was fresh upon our eyes.
You breathed your warm and sunny breath about
Our lazy lids inviting us to open
Them and see. You unlocked fast-closed doors
And let us peep in rapt amazement at
The worlds we had not seen before. You lifted
Off the veil that covered common things
And showed the glittering jewels underneath.
With magic wand you touched our finite eyes
And gave us glimpses of the Infinite--
We held our breath and could not speak for awe,
As on the canvass of the sky you showed
The priceless painting God Himself had done.

O, College Days! O, Days of TOIL and JOY,
How swift you've passed and gone; how shallow we
Have drunk from out your Cup of Knowledge!
But many are the tender flowers we've plucked
That grew within your garden's fertile soil
And by the gate that opens Memory Lane.
